Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 29 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Feeling quite cool with the odd isolated shower.

Today:
A rather cloudy day with a few isolated showers during the morning before becoming drier during the afternoon. Winds remaining light and feeling quite cool under any prolonged cloud cover. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry this evening and overnight. Mainly cloudy, however with some clear spells at times. Feeling mild with winds staying light. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another dry but cloudy day for most, however becoming brighter in the afternoon and evening as cloud clears away towards the south. Feeling quite cool, although warmer in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Generally clear, dry and feeling quite warm on Thursday. Feeling warm with scattered showers and sunny intervals on Friday. Widespread rain from late morning on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.